Eight young children radiate pride as they strike a pose for a group photo on their return to Hong Kong after successfully completing a nine-day simulated astronaut training program at two overseas Space Camp locations, in the US states of Alabama and Florida, in late July. During the program, they underwent a series of challenges designed to simulate real astronauts' experiences, visited the Kennedy Space Center, and interacted with seasoned professionals. The YF Life Jr Space Camp Program, launched in 1999, is designed to ignite a passion for space exploration among Hong Kong's youth. The participants had emerged triumphant from three selection rounds.
