

Mission successful

A Long March 5B rocket, carrying a new group of low Earth orbit satellites, blasts off on Wednesday from the Wenchang Space Launch Site in South China's Hainan province. The satellite group, the eighth of its kind that will constitute an internet constellation, successfully entered its preset orbit. The launch marked the 568th mission of the Long March series carrier rockets. JANG JURONG / FOR CHINA DAILY